

EXAMINATION FOR DENTISTS APPLYING FOR FULL REGISTRATION IN THE REGISTER OF DENTISTS UNDER THE PROVISIONS OF SECTION 27 (2) (d) OF THE DENTISTS ACT 1985

1. Section 27 (2) of the Dentists Act 1985 provides for the admission to full registration in the Register of Dentists of any person who satisfies the Council that he/she has undergone such courses of training and passed such examinations as are specified in rules made by the Council. This provision is in addition to the provisions made in the Act for the admission to full registration of persons holding primary qualifications awarded by the licensing authorities in Ireland and of persons, being nationals of EEA member states, who have graduated within the EEA with a scheduled dental degree/diploma.
2. Council has decided that persons seeking registration under the provisions of Section 27 (2) (d) of the Act should normally be required to present for and pass a special examination.
3. This examination will be a Council examination conducted by the universities on its behalf and administered by an Examination Board appointed by the Council on which both dental schools and the Council will be represented.
4. An applicant for registration under the provisions of Section 27 (2) (d) of the Act should, in the first instance, submit to Council a transcript of his/her training and qualifications for assessment. Any person who, as a result of this assessment, has been deemed to have followed an acceptable course of study and has indicated to the Council his/her competency to communicate in the English language will normally be permitted to present for the examination. An acceptable course of study in this context would be equivalent to that laid down in the Dental Directives viz. at least a five year full-time course of theoretical and practical instruction given in a university or similar educational institution, with training to provide the dentist with the skills necessary for carrying out all activities involving the prevention, diagnosis and treatment of anomalies and diseases of the teeth, jaws and associated tissues.
5. The examination will be held in two parts

Part 1 will include an examination in;
  - (a) the application of the basic sciences to dentistry incorporating written papers and possible oral examinations in the following subjects:
    - (i) General and oral anatomy
    - (ii) Physiology and biochemistry
    - (iii) Pharmacology
    - (iv) Pathology and microbiology
  - (b) a practical examination in operative techniques in the clinical subjects e.g. a class 2 cavity and restoration, a class 4 cavity and restoration, or a crown preparation.
  - (c) The clinical assessment of a patient.

Part 11 will include a theoretical examination to test the candidates knowledge of the subjects necessary for the practice of dentistry including general medicine/general surgery, restorative dentistry (conservative dentistry, prosthetics and periodontology), preventive dentistry, paediatric dentistry, therapeutics, anaesthesiology, radiology, law and ethics and an examination in the clinical aspects of these subjects.

The examinations will be searching and test, to a standard not less than that required of an Irish graduate, the knowledge and skill required for the delivery of primary dental care to patients.

6. Examinations will be held at times appointed by Council following consultation with the universities. Not more than one examination for each part will be held each year.
7. Candidates will be allowed a maximum of two opportunities in which to pass Part 1 of the examination and a maximum of three in respect of Part 11 of the examination. Candidates must have credit for Part 1 of the examination before proceeding to Part 11.
8. Council and the universities will ensure that all legal requirements for the holding of the examinations are met and that adequate insurance cover is provided.
9. The examination fee payable by candidates will be fixed by Council with the approval of the Minister for Health and Children. The fee, at present, for entry to the examination is €1,500. A non-refundable deposit of €250 must be submitted with the application form and the balance of €1,400 must be paid before 1st March. In the event of a candidate having to repeat a part of the examination an additional fee of €750.00 will be payable.
10. Candidates should note that success in the examination confers entitlement to registration in the Register of Dentists for Ireland. There is no ongoing entitlement to registration in the United Kingdom or any other EEA Member State.
11. Candidates are strongly advised to establish from the Department of Labour that they would be entitled to a work permit to practise dentistry in Ireland if admitted to registration in the Register of Dentists.
12. The Council reserves the right to put a limitation on the number of candidates admitted to the examination in any year.
